

Environmental Impact Analysis - Region Summary

Average of intensity_gco2_per_kwh and Average of intensity_renewable_scenario by region

Key Findings

- Renewable scenarios consistently reduce average grid intensity across all regions.
- The biggest absolute reductions occur in Queensland and New South Wales, where baseline emissions are highest.
- South Australia and Tasmania already have low baselines, so their relative improvements are smaller.